DREAM HIGHWAY BEGINS TO GROW-In the nine years since it was built, the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, stretching 160 miles from Harrisburg to Irwin, Pa., has been the marvel of millions of motorists. The four-lane divided highway-built at a cost of $70,000,000 over what was originally planned as a railroad right-of-way-has no stop lights, no road intersections, no railroad crossings, no sharp curves or steep grades. It does have a nominal toll fee for cars and trucks. Now, action is underway to far west as Indiana and eastward to New York Ohio's new Turnpike Commission will spend $600,000 surveying a 250-mile route as shown on the map above. The complete project will cost $300,000,000. It will connect with a planned extension of the Pennsylvania pike to the Ohio border near Youngstown. Meanwhile, Pennsylvania also is extending its turnpike eastward from Harrisburg to near Philadelphia. This is expected to link with a New Jersey superhighway leading to New York.

To date permits have been issued for 42 new dwellings, most of which are already completed Biloxi, Miss., no Nov. 21. or in various stages of construction. A large number of the new expires in January, 1951. homes built this year were in the $15,000 to $25,000 bracket.

The best postwar year of residential building in Escanaba was 1947 when 97 dwellings were erected. There were 76 homes built here in 1946. The construction of 265 new residences here since the building restrictions were lifted at the end of the war has materially relieved the housing shortage in the city. At present there is no waiting list for accommodations in the veterans housing project and several of the units there have been unoccupied for months. Occupancy in the housing project is limited to families of War War II veterans.

Public Sentiment Favors Causeway

DUBLIC sentiment for the use of the St. Ignace causeway as the first step in solving the traffic problem at the Straits of Mackinac is swelling rapidly. The U. The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. - It's a tough job for Mr. John Q. Public today to make head or tail of the welter of headlines and accusations hurled for and against the B-36, the navy and the atomic bomb.

However, to keep the record straight, here are some statements made by some of the same admirals before the B-36 controversy got so hot:

Statement No. 1-Made by Adm. Ralph A. Oftsie to the house armed services committee last week was that the A-bomb was inhuman, barbaric and should not be used.

Statement No. 2-Made by the same adniral one year before, June 30, 1948, at the Aviation Writers' association in New York -the atomic bomb is the "main shot in our armament locker. The delivery of the atomic bomb both should be and probably s a major consideration today in the war plans of the air force and of naval avia-

Statement No. 3-Naval testimony presented before the armed services committee ast week was that the A-bomb would do little damage a short distance from the target and that its importance was being overeinphasized by the army, air force and secretary of defense.

Statement No. 4-Early in 1948, Adm. Dan Gallery wrote a memo which for about a year became the navy's textbook in its battle against the air force. The memo "The next war will be a lot different from any previous one. It seems obvious that the next time our Sunday punch will be an atomic bomb aimed at the enemy capitals or industrial centers and that the outcome of the war will be determined by strategic bombing. The war will be won by whichever side is able to deliver the atomic bomb to the enemy, and at the same time protect its own territory against similar

"I think the time is right now," continued Admiral Gallery, "for the navy to start an aggressive campaign aimed at proving that the navy can deliver the atomic bomb more effectively than the air forces can.

"If the navy makes delivery of the atomc bomb its major mission, and if we develop the proper ships, planes and tactics, the navy can become the principal offensive branch of the national defense system -the branch which actually delivers the knockout blow"

NAVY FACES OBSOLESCENCE Significantly, Admiral Gallery also stated: "It has been assumed, at least implicitly, that the next war will not be much different from the last one. This assumption between the air force and the navy. Here is what happened.
